

The Permanent Mission of Canada to the UN and the ECLT Foundation invite you to examine how to secure commitments through social dialogue to address a complex human rights problem

SECURING MULTI-STAKEHOLDER COMMITMENTS TOWARDS ELIMINATING CHILD LABOUR

This session will discuss real-life examples and show the concrete value of coming together, making and renewing commitments to end child labour and focusing on accountability. Child labour is an example of a complex issue that broadly affects public, private and civil sectors and is deeply rooted in economic development and cultural norms. Unfortunately, it is often a challenge just to get all the relevant stakeholders to the table for a discussion on the issue, let alone to coordinate across sectors. Come hear and share about how it can be done!

14 NOVEMBER 2016, PALAIS DES NATIONS, ROOM VIII

in conjunction with the 5th UN Forum on Business and Human Rights

Panel and interactive discussion: 4:30 to 6pm

Networking reception: 6-7pm

PANELLISTS:

Government Representative – Hon. Patrick Okello, Labour Commissioner, Government of Uganda

Union Representative – Andrews Addoquaye Tagoe, General Agricultural Workers' Union of Ghana (GAWU)

Employers Representative – Antoine Marty, Confédération générale des entreprises de Côte d'Ivoire (CGECI)

Multi-stakeholder Initiative – Nicholas McCoy, Senior Policy and Advocacy Officer, Eliminating Child Labour

in Tobacco-growing Foundation

